HAMBURG IS ATTACKED
British Retaliate With Much
Damage To Large
German City

(By International News Service)
LONDON, Sept. 9.—Granted a temporary daylight respite from crippling German air raids, London attempted today to dig itself out of the debris of last night's violent attack which cost an estimated 300 lives and irreparable damage to the heart of the capital.

The extra-heavy "super-bombs" dropped by the largest aerial "battleships" in the Reich's air force pounded at the heart of the city for more than nine and a half hours, leaving smoking, smoldering ruins in theatre, night club and business office district as well as poor residential sectors.

Forty-eight hours after intensification of the Nazi attacks into full-scale air war, an official announcement said that 306 persons were killed and 1,337 injured in Saturday's attacks.

"It is not anticipated that yesterday's figures will exceed those of Saturday," the announcement said.

BERLIN, Sept. 9.—Tenfold intensification of the already gigantic German air raids on London was threatened by the Nazi high command today as official announcements claimed crippling damage to docks, piers and other military objectives in the British capital.

The present onslaughts were characterized as merely a "prelude" in the form of retaliation for allegedly indiscriminate British attacks on civilian areas of Germany.

New British attacks on Hamburg during the night led inspired quarters to renew their charges that the R. A. F. is continuing to bomb without aim or plan and with no consideration for legitimate military targets.

The Berlin radio announced that British planes had dropped between

Rev. Swartz Tells Of
S. S. Work in The State

MORRISVILLE, Sept. 9.—A Fellowship supper and leadership discussion groups featured the Saturday sessions of the 74th annual convention of Bucks County Sabbath School Association in Grace Methodist Church, here. Approximately 100 were present at the leadership courses on the second and final day of the convention.

"Starting Facts Regarding Sunday School Work in Pennsylvania," was the subject well presented by the convention speaker, the Rev. Freeman H. Swartz, after the supper. The song leader was the Rev. John H. Barnes, Jr., Scottsville.

The Rev. Julian H. King, New Britain, conducted the devotional period in the afternoon, and the three groups then entering classes had as their subjects "Growing with Jesus," "The Essentially Missionary Character of Christianity," and "How to Understand Our Pupils." Churchville trio pleased during the afternoon, and business session followed. Presentation of certificates to those who had completed courses was also included.

Home Team Takes Visitors
Into Camp by Score of 4 to 3

WINS 19TH GAME OF 1940

Landreth Seeds nosed out Crescentville 4-3 yesterday afternoon at Landreth Park as Al Carey turned in his nineteenth win of the season against two defeats.

Crescentville after being blanked for seven innings made a strong bid for victory in the final two innings, scoring two runs in the eighth and one in the ninth when the Farmers' defense weakened.

Five scattered hits were all the visitors garnered off Carey up until the eighth inning and the Landreth team led 4-0. In the eighth the visitors counted twice on singles by E. Myers and Matthauser and Costello's wild throw of J. Myers' easy roller—two were out at the time.

Gourley opened the visitors' ninth with a single to left field. Rossi threw out Graf. Achilles hit safely to right field. E. Myers hit a double play grounder to Costello who allowed it to get through Gourley, scoring. With the tying run on third, Carey fanned

The ceremony, in Harriman Methodist Church at 11 a. m., was performed by the Rev. James Matchette, pastor of the church.

Attendants of the bride and groom were the former's sister, Mrs. William Gill, Bristol; and Mr. Howard Stewart, Woodside, brother of the groom.

Following a week-end trip to Atlantic City, N. J., Mr. and Mrs. Stewart will reside in an apartment on Lafayette street. The bride is a graduate of Bristol high school, and of Peirce Business College, Philadelphia. Mr. Stewart is a graduate of Morrisville high school.

Young Couple Wed At Ceremony Here Yesterday

A nuptial ceremony in St. Ann's Church yesterday afternoon at three o'clock united Miss Laura Bianchini, daughter of Mrs. Contino Bianchini, 1224 Radcliffe street, and Mr. Angelo DiPasquale, 1224 Radcliffe street, son of Mr. Nicholas DiPasquale, Pond street.

Serving in the chancel was the Rev. Fr. Peter Pinci, with the organist, Miss Frances Tamburella, playing the wedding marches and accompanying Miss Mary Sodano, South Langhorne, who sang "Ave Maria." Mr. Armando Bianchini gave his sister in marriage.

The maids of honor were the Misses Jean Nonini, Beaver street, and Rose Commare, Lincoln avenue; with Miss Jennie Luppino, Pear street, as bridesmaid. Mr. Alfred Camilucci, Wood street, served Mr. DiPasquale as best man.

As the bride entered the edifice she looked becoming in a gown of satin with designs of silver brocade. Of princess style, it had long sleeves and a lengthy train. The tulle veil was held in place by a cluster of white orchids, and the bride carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

The three attendants selected for the event wore brocaded taffeta costumes, fashioned princess style with V-necks, short puffed sleeves and floor-length full skirts. Tiny bows on the bodice matched the purple felt hats and satin slippers. Large colonial bouquets of purple lady asters were carried.

Two hundred assembled for the reception in Sons of Italy Hall, with Mr. and Mrs. DiPasquale leaving later for a week's motor trip to Pittsburgh. For the journey the bride wore a mannish style pin-striped suit of dark green, maroon felt hat and maroon accessories. Her corsage was of tea roses. The newly-weds will reside at 1224 Radcliffe street.

Horror Follows Bombers' Raids

London, Sept. 9.—Stark horror, shattered schools, hospitals, museums, churches, air raid shelters and homes—such was the picture of London's newest and longest air raid provided by eye-witnesses today.

Homes, apartments, stores, a cinema, office buildings, even London theatre and night club regions did not escape from Nazi bombers, and today all accounts of the carnage agreed that scores of bombs were scattered haphazardly in purely residential areas where no conceivable objectives existed.

ONLY ONE DISTRICT TO VOTE ON MOVIES

Voters of Doylestown Borough
To Express Opinions On Sunday Movies at Co. Seat

AT GENERAL ELECTION

Only one Bucks County district will vote on Sunday movies at the general election to be held in November. The one district voting will be Doylestown Borough.

The Doylestown petition asking that the question be placed on the ballot at the November election, was signed by 154 residents of the town, more than is necessary according to the election laws. The petition has been approved by Doylestown Borough Council and has been filed with Ernest Harvey, chief clerk for the county election board. No other petitions, for or against, can be filed this year, the deadline being Thursday.

Under the terms of the law granting local option in the matter of Sunday movies, a community may vote on whether or not it wants the partially open Sunday, only once in five years. This does not create a full open Sunday, as the bill provides that movie houses may be opened on Sundays only after 2 p. m.

The matter was last before the voters of Bucks county in 1935, when votes were taken in Bristol borough, Quakertown, South Langhorne and Doylestown. Bristol favored Sunday movies at that time, 2968 to 1227. In Quakertown the proposition was defeated, 1153 to 843. South Langhorne adopted Sunday movies, 335 to 111. Since then the voters have approved Sunday movies in Bristol Township.

In Doylestown borough five years ago, Sunday movies lost out by 131 votes, carrying in the First Ward, 381 to 345, and in the Third Ward, 2nd Precinct, 192 to 190, and losing in the Second Ward, 437 to 309, and the Third Ward, 1st Precinct, 268 to 227.

At the present time the prevailing sentiment in Doylestown is said to favor Sunday movies by a considerable

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

"Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc."

Disquieting Situation

Washington, Sept. 7.
IN launching so huge a defense program as now engages this Government, a certain amount of confusion is inevitable and unavoidable. But it ought not to be so great as to bewilder those upon whom large responsibility is thrown and render orderly and logical effort impossible. Nevertheless, it is that great, and the reason seems to be that there is no well-conceived, carefully considered plan of procedure.

INSTEAD, the experience of the past is not being used with intelligence; nor is adequate thought being given to a clearly visible future. The whole business is being rushed in a high-speed, high-pressure, heedless, headlong way, without steady direction by one dominant mind concerned only with getting results, and knowing how to get them. There is progress, to be sure. Certain things are being done—and done well—but there is not the kind of progress there should be, and soon or late it will be surprising if some of the men brought here from the outside does not arise and say so.

THE necessity for one individual who really can—and will co-ordinate the whole defense effort has been vainly urged upon the President from the start. He has made it plain that he intends to be the one big central figure in this business. Rather than delegate power to another, he is attempting the co-ordinating himself, though it is quite obvious that his other Presidential duties, to say nothing of his third-term candidacy, make it impossible for him to give either the time or the kind of concentration

St. Ann's Catholic Church was the scene of a wedding Sunday afternoon when Miss Pauline A. Napoli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Napoli, 601 Wood street, became the bride of Mr. Michael J. Spinelli, 602 Wood street. Rev. Peter Pinci performed the double ring ceremony at 2:30 o'clock. Miss Frances Tamburella played the wedding march.

Miss Marie Spinelli, Wood street, a cousin of the groom, was maid of honor; and Miss Pauline Accardi, Dorance street, a cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid. Basil Capriotti, Wilson avenue, served as best man.

Joseph Galzerano sang "O, Promise Me."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Edward Napoli, was gowned in white stardust taffeta, the bodice being shirred in front, sweetheart neckline, puffed sleeves to the elbow and tight fitting to the wrist. The long full skirt ended with a train. The veil of tulle, with face veil, fell from a crown of pearls. Her slippers were white satin, and she carried a colonial style bouquet of white roses.

Her attendants were gowned in American Beauty start-dust taffeta, made like the bride's gown, with the exception that the sleeves were short and puffed. Each attendant wore a large felt hat and satin slippers in duobrown tone and carried colonial bouquets of American Beauty roses.

The bridal party was served dinner at a Philadelphia restaurant after the ceremony, and a reception followed at the home of the bride for 150 guests.

The bride's gifts to her attendants were mother of pearl crosses and silver chains. The groom presented to the best man a military set in a leather case.

Some Teachers Having 50 Students

A portion of the Croydon school is to go on half session, the Bristol Township Board of School Directors complying with wishes of parents to close the Badger school building, and the room in the basement of Wilkinson Memorial Methodist Church, which has been used for one class.

Some consideration was given, it is stated, to transporting pupils to other grade schools in the district, but to this many parents also objected, and to satisfy residents the half sessions were planned.

The half sessions commence tomorrow morning, and the grades affected are from one to five, inclusive. The first group will be under instruction from 8.15 until 12.15, and the second group from 12.30 until 4.30.

The rooms are reported as very crowded, with several teachers having approximately 50 pupils.

Miss Glenda Connor, who has been in charge of the classrooms at the Methodist Church basement; and William J. Kines, who has been teaching at Badger school, will hereafter be located at Croydon main school building. Mr. Kines, who will have portions of grades four and five, will teach full sessions; but Miss Connor will have half sessions.

Half sessions affect Miss Orpha Wetzler and Miss Connor, in the primary grades; and Miss Estelle Rauch and Miss Beck in the higher grades.

Miss Louise Stewart, who had been in charge of grade two, is now teaching grade six, having taken the place left vacant by resignation of Miss Katherine Biddle.

Pupils are being transported from Maple Shade and Laurel Bend sections to other buildings, due to crowded conditions.

St. Ann's Church Scene
Of Attractive Wedding

A young woman who resides at 1102 Wood street, and a resident of Yorkers, N. Y., were the principals in a Sunday wedding, when at 3:30 p. m., yesterday, the Rev. Peter Pinci united in marriage Miss Anne Rago, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rago, and Mr. Joseph Tancredi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vito Tancredi, of Italy.

St. Ann's R. C. Church was the scene of the ceremony, with the musicians including Miss Frances Tamburella and Mr. Joseph Galzerano. Miss Tamburella furnished accompaniment also for Mr. Galzerano's vocal numbers.

Miss Rose Rago, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid; and the best man was Mr. Frank Lavrigata, Lincoln avenue, nephew of the groom.

The satin gown worn by the bride had a cowl neck-line, shirring on the bodice, long sleeves ending in points, and the long skirt featured a bustle-back and a train. A wreath of orange blossoms held the tulle veil in place, and the bride's sandals were of white satin. She carried Easter lilies.

The bride's attendant, Miss Rose Rago, was attired in a floor-length dress of poudre blue taffeta, the jacketed model having a sweetheart neckline and short sleeves. The headress was formed of rose toned artificial flowers, from which gracefully fell a poudre blue veil, shoulder length. Her arm bouquet was of tea roses, and she wore rose colored sandals.

A reception took place at the Rago residence.

Washington, D. C., and New York City will occupy a week of sight-seeing for Mr. and Mrs. Tancredi. Mrs. Tancredi wore for the journey a royal blue velvet dress, felt hat and accessories of black. They will reside in an apartment in Yorkers.

150 YEARS OF COAST GUARD

The United States Coast Guard, now celebrating completion of its first 150 years—years rich in a traditionally American record of achievement—last year saved more than 10,000 lives and property valued at $63,000,000; it has been performing similar feats since the first days of the Republic, and today enlists the services of 14,000 men at 250 stations.

It has guarded the coasts against those seeking to evade tariff and embargo laws, and co-operated with others in patrolling inland waters. It has lately taken over responsibility for the maintenance of thousands of lighthouses on seaboard and lakes. Each year its famed iceberg patrol moves into the North Atlantic as a service to world shipping.

It might be said that its daily routine is anything but routine. Never particularly publicized, and largely taken for granted, its story is one replete with thrills and high adventure.

AFTER THE SOLSTICE

Man violates the laws of nature another time in staging his annual awakening and revival in the fall instead of in the spring. When all else is going to sleep for the long autumn and winter, man is just emerging from his summer slumber. Activities of mankind run their cycles in time with the motions of the earth, but except among the actual tillers of the soil, the season of greatest activity begins with the waning of summer.

Agriculture in summer lays the foundation upon which industry and commerce build the year's business structure. Newly harvested crops hurry the wheels of transportation, provide raw materials for industry's machines and produce the purchasing power which stimulates business.

September is the dividing line. Then the vacation season of least activity and production ends and the period of maximum effort begins. There is a stir everywhere as man's providence prompts him to provide clothing, fuel, food stores, all the vast requirements that permit modern complex existence under stern conditions.

Agriculture's harvest is on. Industry and commerce are sowing. Here is promise for every sort of worker and every dollar of capital.

DULL SKIES

The human mind is subtly affected by cloudy skies. When the storms of winter come, people are apt to feel less hopeful. Some traveling salesmen remark that they can never sell such goods on a cloudy or stormy day. People seem to lack confidence.

The storms of winter may not seem necessary for man's refreshment, but if it were not for them, water supplies would run dry and rivers would not turn turbines.

The wise philosopher is not much affected by weather. All kinds of skies look good to him. The artist's eye sees beauty even when the sky is obscured by clouds. Sunshine is a wonderful thing, but if it were vouchsafed every day all sense of its beauty would be lost.

Pierre Cot, art minister in the Leon Blum cabinet, now in New York, offers two more explanations of why France failed to repulse the invader. Experts are checking up to see if they overlap explanations already on file.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

By Courier Staff Member

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol Dec. 12, 1878. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

Beyond the reading and passing of bills but little business was transacted at the council meeting last Monday evening. The street committee reported that some repairs were made on Bath street. A petition against placing ashes in Buckley street was referred to the street committee, with instructions to report to council at next regular meeting. A petition for a lamp on Bath street, above Buckley, was referred to same committee, with power to act.

The hall in Fallington is about finished.

The Penns Manor literary society will meet at John H. Wright's residence next Wednesday evening, at which time will be discussed the question, Resolved, that the use of tobacco will be prohibited by law.

The annual meeting of Bristol Lodge, No. 25, F. and A. M., was held on Saturday evening last. The election for officers to serve the lodge for the ensuing Masonic year resulted in the choice of Dr. James B. Candy, W. M.; Benjamin W. Boucher, S. W.; Allen L. Garwood, J. W.; William Kinsey, treasurer; and C. E. Scott, secretary. After the election the usual annual supper was partaken of in the banquet room of the lodge.

George Donnell had one of his fingers bitten off by a horse one day last week.

C. S. Vandegrift, Sr., has purchased the Brushy Park farm at Edgely for $16,500.

The net proceeds of the Methodist fair held last week amounted to between $350 and $400.

the Tullytown M. E. Church, on Sunday, the 22nd instant.

Tomorrow afternoon the children of the Humeville public schools in the department under M. J. H. Knight's charge, will give a closing entertainment, as Mr. Knight having been appointed deputy in the recorder's office will resign his position as teacher.

On Thursday last a petition was presented to court signed by 32 qualified electors of the county of Bucks contesting the election for prothonotary by Robert L. Cope, Esq. The petition was filed and a rule was granted upon the opposite party to answer petition, returnable January 7th, when the matter is to be heard. The petition alleges that Thomas T. Ochs at the last election received more votes than any other person voted for, for the office of prothonotary, and was therefore elected and should have been so returned. Among the returns alleged to be undue and illegal are those of the boroughs of Quakertown, Bristol, Newtown, New Hope, Doylestown and Morrisville, and those of the townships of Bristol, Upper and Lower Makefield, Falls, Bensalem, Hilltown, Doylestown, Bedminster, East and West Rockhill and Springfield. It is claimed by the contestants that James Barrett, who claims the right to hold over, is the only person who can be made the respondent; and that Forwell, who was defeated, could only be made a party to the contest by having filed his petition as required by law within 30 days after the election. As he did not file such a petition his claim to the office is forfeited by his laches.

On Friday evening last Rev. M. L. Hoffer delivered his lecture on the "First Steps in Great Discoveries" in the Hall of the Y. M. C. A. at Humeville. At the close the lecturer was greeted with hearty applause, and the thanks of the audience, on motion of Rev. Mr. Brinklow, was extended to him for his very acceptable and instructive lecture.

tion for which co-ordination and direction of the defense program calls.

ONE result is that time is being wasted and effectiveness diminished. A further result is that friction exists between some of the President's New Deal aides and some of the industrialists whom he has drafted. The former feel resentful at the importance being given the latter and insist there is enough ability among the New Dealers to do this job without bringing in men unsympathetic both to the New Deal philosophy and the third-term candidacy. It is fair to say that Mr. Roosevelt has in no way encouraged this idea and, except that he will not delegate the power without which they cannot fully function, is supporting the industrialists.

THIS, however, does not prevent a campaign of disparagement from being waged by the resentful aides, evidence of which is to be found in the left-wing weeklies and comments of other journalistic reflectors of the "advanced thinkers." Injurious, too, is the suspicion that politics is getting into the defense program. The third-term candidacy naturally makes these suspicions inevitable, but certainly they are promoted by such incidents as the disclosure that Mr. "Chip" Robert, Secretary of the Democratic National Committee and one of the third-term drafters, has received very large fees from contracts for defense work.

THAT creates a bad smell and makes the nomination atmosphere which should envelop the defense effort, and which Mr. Roosevelt has attempted to establish, difficult to maintain. But the Robert incident is not important and the refusal of the President to utilize—or even make public—the industrial mobilization plan is important. This is not, as he has said, an "old" plan; it is not only a new plan but it is the only plan there is. As General Johnson pointed out, this plan is the result of years of work and study in the Army War College, the Army Industrial College and the General Staff. It is the plan to which Mr. B. M. Baruch, head of the old War Industries Board and certainly the best-qualified man in the country on this subject, has contributed and approved.

THE successes and failures of the industrial mobilization of the last war form the basis for this plan. It tries to eliminate the errors of 1917 and 1918 and to vaccinate against a repetition of the mistakes of that time. In brief, the best brains of the War Department and of the industrialists who went through the last war have been combined to evolve an industrial mobilization plan far better than the one we had. But Mr. Roosevelt pushes it aside as "old stuff." He will not even make it public and exhibits pronounced irritation when anyone refers to it.

THIS is an attitude for which there seems slight excuse. The truth is that, with every desire to co-operate with Mr. Roosevelt on defense, thoughtful men who know the facts are disquieted over the situation as it now exists. They know the failure to delegate power is a tremendous handicap, but that nothing can be done about it. They know, too, that the third-term campaign cannot help affecting the defense program. They know that the tax bill has been botched and that no thought whatever is being given to the question of how to pay for defense.

APPARENTLY, while the campaign is on, that subject is barred. No one in the Administration mentions it. Administration leaders drift as though there were no such thing as a day of reckoning. The deficit this year will be five billion, and the deficit next year will be greater, and there is no end in sight. Despite tax increases the debt will mount steadily. The inevitability of a crash, when the inescapable depression at the end of the national defense boom comes, is conceded generally. But does the prospect worry the third-term economists? It does not. They merely use the "we-owe-it-to-ourselves" argument and dismiss it from their minds.

IN a way, the amazing complacency of these men, so close to the President, is more frightening than the prospect of war itself—particularly when it is realized that it was they who managed the "draft" and whose power and importance would be enhanced by a third term. And, with unmitigated gall, it is they who are promulgating the slogan, "There is no issue in this campaign."

Says Advertising Should Be Timely

"If newspapers are read for the news they publish, then why shouldn't advertising be as timely and up to date as the news which appears on the front page?" This novel thought was recently expressed by M. H. Leister, the Sun Oil Company's Sales and Advertising Manager, who not only proposed the question, but proceeded to answer it.

"Advertising," he said, "in our opinion should be filled with news facts instead of general claims. By this I mean it becomes much more dependable because it gives the reader recent news of what has occurred in the history of the advertiser."

"For instance, recent research in the gasoline market has shown us that thousands upon thousands of motorists who formerly used extra-priced gasolines have changed to Nu-Blue Sunoco. Now that, in itself, is interesting. But we believe it becomes distinctly newsworthy when we point out that these days."

motorists are saving two cents on every gallon of Nu-Blue Sunoco, due to the fact that this motor fuel sells at regular gas price.

"Now, these days in particular, a new way to save or make money is good news for almost everybody. Consequently, we have built our latest newspaper campaign about this money-saving news; and incidentally, newspapers were selected as the backbone for this extensive campaign for the same reason we have used them so much in the past. First, they carry our message directly to the people we want to reach. Second, they are up to date. And third, if we have a newsworthy message for the public, what would be more logical than the newspaper? Consequently, we are placing our full advertising in hundreds of newspapers and we know it will be read by millions of motorists who are interested in money-saving ideas!"

majority. The town has Sunday baseball, a golf course and other sports that are well patronized on Sundays.

So far, no petitions have been filed with the election board for the repeal of the law at Bristol and South Langhorne, the only Bucks county communities to have Sunday movies. The local option can, of course, work either way, provided the proper petitions are filed and votes obtained at the election.

There are now 167 communities throughout the State that have movies on Sunday, including Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Scranton. Harrisburg defeated the measure five years ago, and will vote again on the matter.

The wording of the question on the ballot as it will appear, follows:

"Do you favor the conducting, staging, operating and exhibiting of motion pictures, regardless of whether admission charge is made or incidental thereto, or labor or business is necessary to conduct, operate or exhibit the same, after 2 p. m., on Sunday when we point out that these days."

Miss Dorothy Belle Abrams
Is Wed To Richard Brown

EDGELEY, Sept. 9 — An attractive wedding took place Saturday afternoon at three o'clock in Grace Episcopal Church, Hulmeville, when Miss Dorothy Belle Abrams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Abrams, Edgely, became the bride of Mr. Richard P. Brown, son of Mrs. Florence Brown, Bristol.

The church was decorated with palms and cut flowers, and the Rev. Louis E. Fifer III performed the ceremony. Mrs. Paul Vansant, Langhorne, sang "Because" and "Oh Promise Me" prior to the ceremony; and Mrs. Harry Friedrich, of Langhorne, played Lohengrin's wedding march as the bridal party entered the church.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Dennis Cavin, Tullytown, as matron of honor; Miss Anna Mayberry Tullytown, and Miss Rita Kracher, Palmyra, N. J., as bridesmaids; and little Janet Neindorff, Tullytown, niece of the bride, acted as flower girl. Serving the groom as best man was Mr. George Perkins, Bristol. Ushers were Messrs. Frank Moore and Henry Ancker, Bristol.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white taffeta gown featuring a sweetheart neckline, leg of mutton sleeves ending in a point over the wrists, with a long full skirt ending in a short train. She wore a finger-tip veil edged with lace, which fell from a coronet of orange blossoms; white satin sandals, and carried a white prayer book with flower streamers.

The matron of honor was attractive in an aqua taffeta gown made on princess lines, with a matching halo of flowers and a nose veil. She wore white sandals and carried an old-fashioned bouquet of assorted flowers. The bridesmaids were gowned in raisin color and pink taffeta, fashioned princess style, with head-dress and nose veils to match. They wore white sandals, and carried old-fashioned bouquets of mixed flowers. The flower girl was attired in pink net over blue taffeta, the ankle-length dress featuring a hoop skirt with a wide girdle. She wore pink and blue bows in her hair. White slippers completed her costume and she carried a small basket of old-fashioned flowers.

ON THE SCREENS

GRAND THEATRE

Here's an adventure that might have happened to your family or the family next door or the family down the block—for it happened to that All-American Family, the Hardys of Carvel, who will be here again today at the Grand Theatre in "Andy Hardy Meets Debutante."

In this ninth and latest of the popular series you'll find the same human, down-to-earth drama, spiced with laughs, that has made the Hardy Family kin to every family in the land. But this time Judge Hardy and his little tribe appear against the dazzling background of modern Manhattan.

BRISTOL THEATRE

Employing for its background the impressive grandeur of the mountains and forests of the North-Canadian Rockies, and co-starring three of Hollywood's most popular personalities—Ray Milland, Patricia Morrison and Akim Tamiroff—Paramount has contrived an exciting and completely entertaining triangle drama in its motion picture version of Sinclair Lewis' intriguing story, "Mantrap," which has been brought to the screen under the title, "Untamed," and had its local premiere last night at the Bristol Theatre.

RITZ THEATRE

That glamour girls of the screen knit between scenes during the making of motion pictures is not a gag, according to Paulette Goddard, one of the movies most industrious knitters during the filming of "The Ghost Breakers," which is at the Ritz Theatre.

She explained to Bob Hope, who co-stars with her in the picture, that by knitting continuously she can rehearse her part at the same time and it serves as an outlet for any nervousness she may feel, to say nothing of keeping the cast, director and herself supplied with sweaters.

Today's Quiet Moment

(By Howard L. Zepp, Th. M.)

Thy command to be holy is just as binding as Thy command to be honest. When we realize how poor and unworthy our lives have been, we fear to come into Thy presence. Teach us that holiness is not an elective in the school of Christian character; and save us from characterizing it by mannerisms. Let us show our holiness by wholeness of heart and life. Amen.

The mothers of the bride and groom were dressed in navy blue with navy blue accessories, and each wore a corsage of pink rose buds.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride graduated from Bristol high school, class of '36, and also from Northeast Hospital, Philadelphia, in 1939. The groom is employed by Paterson Parchment Paper Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown left for a week's trip to New York City, and upon their return will live at 317 Garfield street, Bristol. Mrs. Brown traveled in a soldier blue dress and hat to match, with black accessories.

Mrs. Brown presented her attendants with perfume sets, and the best man was presented with a gold watch chain.

DIAMOND AND KING EACH WINS A GAME

On the Rohm & Haas field yesterday the play off between King Supply and Diamond went seven innings, Diamond winning by the score of 5 to 1. Helveston was in good shape fanning 6 and walked 1, the only batter to get more than a hit was Russo who had a triple and single. Helveston had one hit inning, the 6th, after Wasielewski and Rossi out on strikes. Yeager hit to left field for a single. Nowalinski hit to Hawkins and his throw to DeRisi was perfect, but DeRisi dropped the ball, and then tried to put out Yeager going to third, but the throw by DeRisi was low and Yeager scored. Helveston should have had a shut out. Four hits in all.

The second game between Diamond and King's Supply was different. King Supply jumped on Keegan, who started and never finished, and was relieved by Helveston, but Helveston, who won the first game, didn't last either, so First Baseman Mike DeRisi went in to stop them. Three runs were scored on Keegan and 6 runs on Helveston, and relief pitcher DeRisi gave up 3 hits in all. King's Supply in 2 games didn't have an error charged to them. Yeager gave up 7 hits and 3 runs. The 5th inning was bad.

BRISTOL A. A. NINE WINS OVER FISHER A. A.

After defeating Kensington and Mayfair the Fisher A. A. Club which now lays claim to the championship of Philadelphia, was given a good coat of whitewash in Philadelphia yesterday at 2nd and Godfrey streets, by Johnny Mulholland's fast-stepping Bristol A. A. club, by the score of 4 to 0.

Frank Stover, the A. A. southpaw, held the Fisher club to nine hits, all of them scattered. Great fielding of Harrison, Oppman and Sweeney brought Stover out of a couple of tight plays. Cahill, VanZant, Hunter, D. Stover and Frank Sweeney hit the ball hard, while Dougherty was the only Fisher batter to get more than 1 hit. Next Sunday Bristol A. A. plays Landreth Seed in a series of three games at Landreth field.

London Attempts To Dig Out of Bombing Debris

and 70 bombs on Hamburg, damaging 30 houses in the residential area. The new Nazi night raid tactics call for raids by the Reich's main bombing units, preceded by fast fighting planes, drop flares and light the way to the objectives. This strategy enables the German bombers to pick out their targets without delay.

Describing the attacks last night, spokesmen said that important objectives were heavily damaged and fires started from one end of the city to the other.

German quarters maintain that the R. A. F. is weakening in its resolve, while in London there is "growing confusion which borders on panic."

Landreth Seeds Win Over Crescentville

Fraitz and Matthauser grounded to Rossi for the final out.

The Farmers scored their runs in three innings. Breslin's single and steal and Miksis' hit scored a run in the initial inning. Harwi's two base hit to left field an infield out and Griggs single tallied one in the second.

The third and fourth runs were scored in the fifth. Griggs' two base hit, Carey's single and Costello's long drive to left field for two bases, counted one run. Miksis beat out an infield hit to score the other.

Mario Rossi played a wonderful fielding game for Landreth at third base, accepting eight chances. At least three of these were real fielding gems. Bill Harwi ran clear to the visitors' bench in the fourth to make a sensational catch of Traitz's pop up with his glove hand.

CROYDON WINS DOUBLE- HEADER OF A SERIES

Croydon Y. M. A. entered the final playoffs of the Bristol Suburban League by winning both ends of a double-header on the Edgely A. C. on Landreth's field, Saturday afternoon. Scores were 4-3 and 11-7.

Airtight hurling by "Herm" Piuma plus a timely hit by Hal Snyder gave the Y's the victory in the first game after the Edgelyites had rallied to deadlock the count in the seventh. Snyder drove in McCue, who had doubled, with the winning run.

Piuma had a no-run, no-hit game within his grasp until two were out in the seventh and then Joe Dick smashed out a hit. Bergman reached first on Oppman's error and Linck was intentionally passed to load the sacks. Doster then cleaned them with a triple to tie the score.

Manager "Henny" Morgan took his flailing arm out of campbells balls to hurl the second tilt and with an early 11 run lead coasted until the fifth when Hal Snyder was called in to finish the tilt.

McCue and Snyder divided the hitting honors for the day with four each. Score: Edgely 4, Croydon 3.
